Buffalo, NY. — October 7, 2010. DIGITS LLC today announced the completion of a merger between DIGITS (Digital Information Gathering & Investigative Technologies, Inc) and Promileon, LLC, a software development Company. The newly created entity, spurred by the securing of private equity financing, will continue as one of America's leading Computer Forensic Consultancy's dedicated to leveraging its unique technology and it's globally recognized team of experts to exceed their client's expectations in high stakes computer forensic investigations. DIGITS LLC, also today announced the election of James Domres as Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer. Jim retired from his position as Assistant Chief Investigator of the New York State Attorney General's Office on September 28th after a highly decorated 34 year career in law enforcement.

"Given the increasingly important role that technology and computer forensics has become in today's shrinking world, we are thrilled to have Jim join as a full time member of DIGITS LLC. Jim is one of the foremost experts in computer forensic and computer investigations field and is known worldwide. He is a charter member of this industry and his experiences will prove to be an invaluable resource for our clients," said Michael McCartney DIGITS LLC, President and co-founder.

"Jim's 34 years of law enforcement experience, with more than 15 years of that in supervisory roles, position him to be uniquely qualifies him to provide invaluable expertise and value to DIGITS LLC. His leadership and abilities, bring forth a unique skill set to the business environment that this company operates in," says Ray Nowicki, CPA and founder of Nowicki & Company.

"I am excited to join DIGITS LLC in a full time capacity. This agile and creative company will have an incredible impact on the computer forensics and computer security industry. It will be in a position to help it's client be successful in today's global economy. I look forward to helping progress DIGITS' mission," said Jim Domres, Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer.

Jim is a highly decorated member of the law enforcement community. Although he has spent the last 29 years of his 34-year career in western New York, Jim's investigations were international in scope. His innovations and abilities have made him a recognized expert in the areas of Computer Investigations and Computer
